SILWERSTRAND OUTSPAN

FRIDAY'S 30°C SIZZLE

Everyone arrived in sweltering 30°C heat and set up camp, later gathering around the "gesêls-vuur" to enjoy delicious homemade soup. The catch-up stories around the campfire were wonderful, and our visitors, Anthony and Alfreda Jacobs, kept us all entertained by demonstrating how they pamper their well-trained, four-legged companion.

MCGREGOR MEMORY LANE

On Saturday morning, everyone enjoyed some free time exploring Robertson and McGregor before preparing for the evening's "boerie-wrap" competition, adjudicated by our hosts.

While Eddie and Nikki were named the overall winners, the competition was incredibly tough making everyone a winner in the end.

CRAFT

BREAKY, CELEBRATIONS, CREATIVITY

With rain on the cards, according to the Sunday morning forecast, some headed to the local chapel, while others prepared for the day's festivities. Later, we reunited at Tebaldi's for breakfast and Indaba, and a special celebration for Marlene's birthday.

Upon returning to camp, our hosts set up an additional awning to keep everyone sheltered and comfortable. Under the shelter, we let our creativity flow during Desireé's "beetle game," followed by even more sweet treats as the birthday celebrations continued.

By nightfall, most campers retreated to their beds in search of warmth and comfort. However, a few stayed up to witness Mother Nature's astounding galactic display in the clear night sky.

Hand CRAFTED

We were once again captivated by the Jacobs family's "parenting" skills; it was a sight to see their hound diligently cuddled up on his very own chair, tucked neatly under his own blanket.

DEPARTURE

Early Monday morning, the group began packing up, slowly making their way home safely after another splendid outspan. Meanwhile, the Forbes, Manuels, and Pietersen families continued their journey along the scenic R62, traveling at an easy pace toward their next stop in Plettenberg Bay.
